

Hebetec Engineering AG is a global player in the field of lifting, sliding and lowering heavy loads. Our services here include, for example, the movement of bridges, heavy industrial components, entire buildings etc. As part of the Vinci Group, we literally make big things happen.

We are looking to expand our team, with immediate effect or at an agreed date:

Supervisor / Heavy-Lifting Operator (f/m/d) 100 %

What you do

- You will be at the forefront on our construction sites and at the control panel: YOU will move the bridge or lift the roof.
- You will lead and coordinate workers provided by the client and manage the sites from equipment installation, through the lifting action, to dismantling and transport.
- You will mostly work independently on our international projects, in close collaboration with our project managers in Switzerland and the client on-site.
- You are the figurehead of our company and represent us on the construction sites.

What you bring

- Completed technical basic education (e.g., agricultural machinery mechanic, farmer, car mechanic, steel builder, machine mechanic, etc.).
- Excellent technical understanding, preferably with experience in hydraulics and steel construction.
- Independence and willingness to take responsibility.
- High flexibility for longer international assignments.
- Good oral English skills.
- Physically and mentally resilient.
- Enjoy working with large, heavy machinery.

What we offer

- Interesting work in an international environment.
- Excellent career and development opportunities (e.g., possible transition into project management).
- Training period and construction site assignments with our experienced personnel.
- Company with flat hierarchy and open, appreciative communication culture.
- Between construction site assignments, you will work in our workshop in Hindelbank.
- Competitive compensation, 25 days of vacation, a share in mobile phone subscription costs, and reasonable reimbursement of all travel expenses.

Ready to take the next step? We'd love to learn more about you!
